Football manager 2019 best league 1 signings

We all love wonderkid, but can you find one in the lower leagues? Think Dele Alli, who moved to Tottenham in 2015 and has already played around 90 games of professional football for Ligue 1 outfit MK Dons, aged just 19. Leicester's James Maddison is the latest example, with the attacking midfielder making the move up to the Premier League with Leicester City after brilliantly for Coventry's first in Ligue 1, then Norwich in the Championship. In a move to the lower leagues, you are going to save money on football manager 2019. With RealSport, you can find a young star perfect for your side. How to find the best lower league wonderkids at Football Manager 2019 These are the best lower league wonderkids at Football Manager 2019. All these players are teenagers and play outside the big five European leagues and do not represent the club that participates in European competitions (European Cup and European Cup on FM19). These young men can achieve a potential ability (PA) ranking of at least 140, meaning that they can blossom into some of the best players in the world despite starting outside the biggest leagues in the world. Fiete Arp (CA 118 - PA 167) Age: 18 Positions: ST Cub: Hamburg Country: Germany Best Stats: 16 Finish, 15 first-touch, 15 from ball Value: 2.9 million pounds: 26,000 pounds a week Fiete Arp was in the top flight last season with Hamburg, but the German giants suffered their first relegation from the Bundesliga last season. The 18-year-old Arp has an exceptional track record at youth level, scoring 18 goals in 19 games for Germany U17s, and scoring in each of his first two games for Hamburg last season. Striker Arp has 16 finishes, 15 first-touch and 15 off the ball on FM 19, giving him a current ability rating of 118. This could rise to a capacity of 167, meaning a teenager is valued at 2.9 million pounds with a salary of 26,000 pounds per week.
